John Marr	on furlough to see brother. Jan 1, 1781 his regiment mutinied near Norristown or Trenton and was discharged in his absence. He not being present did not receive a discharge, but never joined the army again.	Dec. 1780	Last date that he served. About 4 yrs 11 months.	It appears that John may have bailed out Lawrence. It does sound somewhat like John was not eager to continue in the Continental army if he took the opportunity of the mutiny to leave and never bothered with a discharge?
	Capt. John Rees' Co., Col. Wood's Pennsylvania Battalion (2nd Battalion, later 3rd Regt. Col. Wood promoted to replace Col. St. Clair 1776).
